DR. MCCRORY'S LECTURES ARE UNEXCELLED.

Commencement at Stanton College.

The students, friends and faculty of Stanton College are anticipating a very pleasant commencement season this year. The week beginning with May 12 will have several pleasant features in store for the people of Stanton and the surrounding communities. Beginning with the Baccalaureate sermon on Sabbath and ending with the splendid lecture on Thursday evening, there will be something interesting every day. Two features of the program deserve special attention, i. e., the lecture by Dr. McCrory and the Gold Medal Contest. Those who attended the contest last year will need no further introduction to this feature. In addition to this, another most pleasant evening is promised us on Thursday when Dr. J. T. McCrory, of Pittsburg, Pa., well known in the East as a most interesting speaker will deliver a popular lecture. These are two features, but there are others which are not to be omitted. Needless to say, the whole round of the week's attractions centers about the commencement proper on Wednesday evening, which with its graduation oration, special music, and special commencement address by Dr. McCrory, will furnish an evening of great enjoyment.

Then, too, the primary cantata on Monday, the music recital on Tuesday, and the ball game on Wednesday, will, with pleasant weather, combine to give Stanton College one of the most successful commencements in its history. Her friends and sympathizers are all invited to come and enjoy it with the students and faculty.

Willard Richardson paid the death penalty in the Eddyville penitentiary Friday for the murder of John Violet in Carlisle last February. Richardson said whiskey led him to his ruin. That's the trouble with nine out of every ten who come to such an end. Then, boys, beware of the first drink; if you have taken the first, then we say, beware of the next drink.

Responding to the call of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Clay City National Bank has another one of their splendid reports in this issue. It furnishes very satisfactory reading for all interested.

The Fayette National Bank of Lexington, will erect a building in that city twelve or fifteen stories high. The bank will occupy the lower floor while the upper stories will be rented for offices.

Death of J. H. Burgher.

Mr. J. H. Burgher died in this city Monday after a lingering illness of several months. Burial Tuesday afternoon in the local cemetery after the funeral services at the home be the Rev. J. C. Hanley. He is survived by wife and three small children, his mother, Mrs. Bettie Burgher, and three brothers, Mr. Albert M. and Asa Burgher, of this city and John W. Burgher, of Dayton, Ohio, who was ill in a hospital in that city and could not be present at the burial. Deceased was twenty-nine years old and was a noble gentleman of Christian character.

At all times, under all circumstances he endeavored to walk in the well beaten path of righteousness and when fully conscious that he was nearing the last of earth, he appeared to be fully impressed with the idea that at the end of time eternity began, and that the bright faith which sustained him during those trying hours of suffering would only grow brighter and brighter as he journeyed toward the Infinite, and the final gloom of death be dispelled by the radiance of God's love. Could all live the just and upright life J. H. Burgher lived, and die in his trusting faith, death could no longer be called "The King of Terrors" for he inspired no terror there. The dying man and sorrowing family looked forward with the same eye of faith to the brighter future where this temporary separation would end in an eternal reunion.

Don't Forget Your Cup.

The recently enacted State law prohibiting the common drinking cup in Kentucky will go into effect about May 10. The law forbids the use of common drinking cups on railroad trains and in railroad stations, hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, steamboats, stores, "or other publicly frequented places." No person or corporation in charge of such places shall permit the use of the drinking cup in common, and warning placards must be posted in conspicuous positions. A violation of the provisions of this act is punishable by a fine of not less than $1 and not more than $10, and each day's violation of any of the provisions of the act is to be considered a separate offense.

Sixty-three fourth class post offices have been designated by Postoffice General Hitchcock as saving depositories.

Mrs. Hubert Hunter, of Winchester, is visiting friends in the city.

What is Hydrophobia.

Owing to the prevalence of rabies in many dogs, all of which so far affected have been killed, and the loss of several head of stock in this vicinity, it is well that the public be educated along this line. A well-known authority on hydrophobia says it is inoculated to persons, rather animals, only by dogs, cats, wolves, foxes, and etc. It is caused only when the skin is broken; one-half the bites never take effect; but little danger where the bite is inflicted through the clothing, the virus on the teeth first being rubbed off on the clothing. There is positively no danger from hydrophobia to man or beast unless bitten by one of the species of animals mentioned above.

When dogs are seen to develop a morbid appetite, eating such articles as wood, straw, old rags, coal, and etc. it is a strong indication of rabies. Later, the dog solitude and is not playful and obeys his master with reluctance or not at all. He will be seen lying around sleepily, suddenly awakening and snapping at imaginary flies. In some cases dogs are melancholy, display no attempt to bite at all and lie from exhaustion in from five to ten days.

Hydrophobia in human beings not often takes effect until from three months to six months and in some cases not for years. A bite from a rabid dog heals as readily as a bite from one not so affected, but before the disease takes effect the old scar becomes inflamed and starts to running again. The disease is something fearful and too much precaution cannot be taken to prevent a single case, either in man or beast. It is far better to kill a thousand dogs not so affected than to take chances on one that has probably been exposed to rabid dog bites.

Lebanon will vote today on local option. The town has five times before voted dry and at the present time is in the dry column. As usual both sides are claiming the victory.
